vares as honored guest and Mudgie was the recipient of the Lions' most prestigious award as he was named "Citizen of the Year". It will be the most popular choice ever made with the children of Mattapoissett of this crop or for a few decades past. "Mudgie" presides at Center School; he takes care of the children as he takes care of their school. Acting King Lion Michael Renzi, in presenting the award, mentioned the long list of Mudgie's activities in behalf of the town. He is custodian of Center School and chief solver of all the mishaps that befall the children there during the school day. He also works at the Post Office as custodian. After school, Mudgie is the Pied

Piper of the town's 200 children Track Club and the young athletes in this organization do him proud. He is one of the originators of the Track Club and is busy from Spring to Fall with practices and meets, and Thursday night dances at the Town Wharf. It is one of the finest programs for youngsters in any area and the kids repay this devotion to their cause with some outstanding performances in track events.

Mudgie's efforts are also of great benefit to the adults of the town. Mr. Renzi mentioned his volunteer work at Shipyard Park where he cares for the flag and attends to the rest rooms there. Because of the many activities at the wharf throughout the summer months, this service has proven invaluable to all organizations and individuals who enjoy the waterfront and the wharf.

"Mudgie's" family was represented at the presentation by his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Sylvia of Marion. Maurice "Mudgie" Tavares is 1984's Lions' Citizen of the Year. He is the children's citizen of every year and a very special man of Mattapoissett in the minds of all who know him.

JANUARY 24, 1984 - by DCJ
VAN FOR ELDERLY REQUESTED

Mr. Joseph Perry, representing Mr. Harold Roeder of the Council on Aging, spoke with Selectmen concerning a new van for the use of the seniors of Mattapoisett. Mr. Perry said that Mr. Roeder was in Boston for eye surgery following an unfortunate accident the first of the year so that he was unable to be present in person.

Mr. Perry explained that Mr. Roeder had heard that several millions of dollars had been allotted to Coastline Elderly Services for the use of non-profit organizations so he had put in a request for a new heavy duty van equipped with a lift of sufficient power to handle motorized wheelchairs with AM/FM radio and air conditioning with a total value of approximately $35,000. It is felt that Mattapoisett will have a priority for such a van, according to Mr. Perry, because Mattapoisett has always made such good use of the programs for the elderly. He said that although the van is valued at $35,000.00 the direct cost to the town would be $8,000.00. After the first year the vehicle would be leased to Mattapoisett for $1. per year for 3 years and then it would be turned over to the town. While Coastline held title, that organization would bill for such services as taking people to the hospital and could charge for trips taken by the Council on Aging which would be billed to that organization.

Mr. Perry said that the Council on Aging would like to also keep the present van which costs about $2,500 per year to maintain. He said that it might be hired out to defray some of this cost.

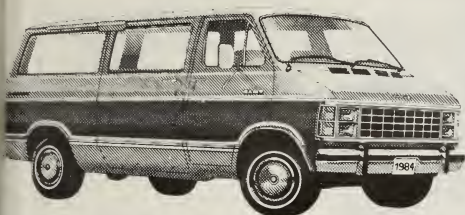

Selectman Frank Suzan asked, "Do we need to maintain 2 vehicles?" He observed that "it sounds like our program is very well handled with a single vehicle".

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta agreed saying that the Selectmen would have to see figures for any income for possible rental to compare with the cost of maintenance particularly since the present van is getting older.

Mr. Perry said that Coastline as owner/leaser could be expected to require use of the van for their own purposes for some of the time (estimated by Perry at 10%). He said that the request, if approved, should not be expected to materialize before summer of 1984.

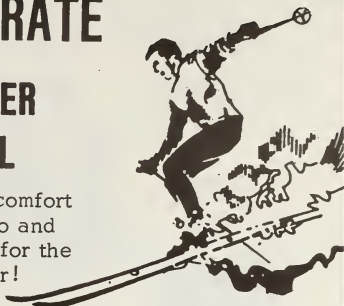

Selectmen James Huntoon suggested that an article could be prepared for the Town Meeting to finance the town's part of the cost of the van. Then, "If it doesn't come through, it doesn't come through".

Mr. Suzan reiterated that he favored getting the new van but also leaned toward getting rid of the present van after the new van arrives.

Mr. Perry said that a possible trouble spot was maintenance of the wheelchair lift but that Medeiros Bus Company had said that they would be happy to assist with these repairs. He said that the present driver could drive the new van but there was a possibility in the future to apply to Coastline for an aide to drive the vehicle. He said the Coastline attorney would be happy to get together with Mattapoisett Town Counsel Donald Fleming and draw up the contract. The Selectmen suggested that this be done.

Mr. Perry mentioned that a Valentine Day Dinner is planned for shut-ins for

EROSION AT WHARF

James Shepley discussed erosion on land adjacent to the town landing at Mattapoisett Wharf with Selectmen. He said that his inspection indicated that the eroded area needs back filling with stone.

The Selectmen will direct a letter to the Mattapoisett Land Trust, which owns the land donated to them by Mrs. Willis Munro, to inform them of the erosion and the possible solution to the problem.

RIGHT TURN RECOMMENDATIONS

Chief of Police James Moran informed Selectmen in writing that he would recommend a right turn after stop on red when traveling west on Route 6 to proceed north on North Street. He would also recommend a right turn on red after stop while traveling east on Route 6 to proceed south on North Street.

The Chief suggested no change be made at the Route 6 and Main Street light where a right turn can now be made from Acush-

HOUSE NUMBERS

Once again we are asking all residents please place the house numbers that have been assigned to your dwelling so that they are visible from the street. It is most important in the case of an emergency that our POLICE and FIRE DEPARTMENTS can identify your home. HELP US TO HELP YOU!!! IS YOUR HOME NUMBER VISIBLE FROM THE STREET????

Should you not be aware of your proper number please call the Town Clerk at 758-6707 and we will check the record for your house number.

CENSUS - Have you returned or called the office with your annual census? Remember it is most important that you be counted. These records are proof that you are residents of the town and that you are entitled to be a voter, enroll your children in the school system, eligible for certain tax abates - just to name a few of the benefits to which you may be entitled.

Rochester Kindergarten

Registration for all students entering Kindergarten in September 1984 (your child must be five before December 31, 1984) will take place on February 15 and 17 at the Rochester Memorial School between 9 and 11 a.m.

Parents should bring a birth certificate to the registration that verifies that their child was born during the year 1979.

FINE ARTS GROUP

The next meeting of the Fine Arts Group of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club will be Monday, February 6th, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Susan Smith. The subject this month will be "The Regionalist Vision: America from the Grassroots". Regionalism was a response to the Great Depression, "decadent" European art, and America's need for self-awareness, which is usually associated with the Thirties. Due in part to a current exhibit of Grant Wood, one of the most famous regionalists, we are having a revival of regionalism. A significant part of the American art establishment is outraged, saying that this is America being provincial and "outside the mainstream" once again, and the whole issue is very controversial. We will discuss this as we study three specific topics: 1) Mary

St. Anthony's Hall.

Open your Home to AFS

Share the joy of a new experience. Laugh with him as he makes silly mistakes in English. Know that you are really a family when she calls you "Mom" and "Dad".

These are just a few of the experiences offered to families who open their homes to foreign students through AFS International/Intercultural Programs. The Old Rochester Chapter is now seeking host families for the coming school year. Each visiting student is between the ages of 16 and 19 years old and lives as a member of a family while attending Old Rochester Regional High School.

"The AFS program is extremely rewarding to the host family as well as the student," say Richard Ellis and Janice Moody, co-Advisors. "Families grow together while learning about another country and another culture as they share their lives with a young person from abroad."

AFS has all kinds of families as hosts. The primary requirement is that they be open to new ideas and interested in people. Although many host families have children of high school age, families with young children or no children are eligible to host and are encouraged to apply.

Host families are not asked to make special expenditures for their AFS student, but they do pay food and incidental expenditures as they would for any child of their own. Host families may take a monthly tax deduction of $50. in accordance with the provisions of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. AFS extends medical coverage to its students as well as sending them monthly allowances.

"More important than the financial contribution a family makes is the interest and attention they provide the AFS students," Richard Ellis stressed. "They are more than compensated by the rewards they gain in return."

AFS candidates applying to spend the school year in the U. S. are carefully screened through their own national offices and AFS International headquarters in day, March 4th). Proceeds of the dinner will benefit the building restoration fund of the neighboring First Congregational Church on Center Street. Tickets, at $7. per person, may be obtained by calling the Unitarian Church office at 992-7081; tickets must be picked up no later than Friday, February 24th.

The First Congregational Church has been a Fairhaven landmark since it was built, in 1844. The oldest church in town, the brick edifice, with its 100-foot spire, was visible to sailors miles from shore until the great gale of 1869, when the steeple came crashing down, puncturing the roof of the sanctuary. Now the roof and the church tower are threatened again, this time by age and the alarming cost of repairs. The 150-member congregation needs to raise $300,000 in order to preserve the building from further deterioration.

The formidable fund-raising task cannot be accomplished without the help of the wider community. The Unitarian Society hopes to be among many willing to lend support to the effort.

ethics and philosophy.

The paintings in this show are intimately connected with the way Lamas or Tibetan Buddhist religious teachers instruct people in the gentle, wise and skillful way of living which this ancient tradition has developed. The guiding principle for all forms of Buddhist art is the Enlightenment of Shakyamuni Buddha, who overcame the deluding passions of desire, hatred, and ignorance, saw through the false notion of self, and taught people how to live with compassionate awareness of the sufferings and needs of others.

The iconography of the paintings draws on the vast pantheon of mythical creatures common to all the traditions of India, being derived from the Hindu world view. Nagas of water spirits, deities with many eyes and heads, figures with human bodies and animal heads who dance in wild, exuberant postures are the inhabitants of this fantastic Indian cosmos. They form a chain of mythical beings which has at its apex the great Buddhist ideals of the Buddha, the Enlightened Sage, and his spiritual sons, the Bodhisattvas, men, women, and transcendent beings who have overcome selfish concerns and radiate absolute compassion for the beings of this suffering world.

The painters of these examples of Tibetan Buddhist art are Sikkimese and Bhutanese monk-artists on the staff of Dodrup Chen Rinpoche, the Lama who commissioned them. In order for painters who are creating figures of Buddhist sacred art to get every detail of the iconography correct, strict canonical principles which govern the representation of these symbolic images must be adhered to. Dodrup Chen Rinpoche specifies how each figure is to look, right down to the tilt of the head of a dancing goddess on the ritual instruments to be held in the hands of wrathful or peaceful emanations of the Buddha-nature.

The purpose of the paintings is to aid the participants in sacred ceremonies in which Buddhist wisdom is communicated to visualize in symbolic form the aspects of the Mandala or inner realm of truth. The small paintings are called Tsak-Li. They are held up by the Lama before the students

The larger paintings are Thangkas or painted scrolls. Traditionally in Tibetan art the canvas is surrounded by brocade, but here they are just framed in the western way.

The paints are mineral and plant dyes made, for example, by crushing stones. The cloth for the canvas is made by the artist or by craftsmen in the Sikkimese or Tibetan community, and it is stretched and sized to become the canvas on which Thangkas painting is done. They even make their own glue!

"Spirit of Massachusetts"

THE LADY HAS BACKBONE

People who love boats and ships love to use nautical words. They were talking circles around the uninitiated long before these computer guys showed up, and they enjoy cringing at other people's misuses of their words. With the construction of the Commonwealth's own Tall Ship, "The Spirit of Massachusetts", well under way, we should set the record straight on at least one very important nautical term, "keel".

"Keel" is currently enjoying a certain popularity because so much fuss was made about a keel of the Down Under variety during the American Cup competition last September. "Keel" refers to the massive timber of structure which, depending on the type of vessel, stretches or hangs along the center of the bottom of the vessel. Confusion arises when some use "keel" as a verb to say that a ship or boat "keels" over. In fact a ship heels when sailing as it tilts under the pressure of the wind in its sails. "The Spirit of Massachusetts" will heel, not keel.

The keel is the backbone of a vessel, and is every bit as important to a ship as our backbone is to ourselves. In many ways it performs the same function. The keel is a ship's foundation, the base on which the rest of the ship depends for strength and soundness. Not only is the ship virtually built up from the keel, but in the case of the "Spirit", a huge lead casting is hung from it, providing the ship with much of her stability under sail.

Favorite terms usually tacked onto "keel" are "massive" and "huge". What do these adjectives mean in terms of the "Spirit"?

Well, the "Spirit's" keel is made of Greenheart, a powerful, dense tropical hardwood that weighs 80 pounds a cubic foot. Each section of the keel is 10" by 12", 72 feet long and weighs 4,800 pounds. Adding the weight of her lead ballast, another 22,729 pounds, the total weight of the "Spirit's" keel is 27,529 pounds. That's just the keel. Above that is the keelson, another massive timber that, er, well, enough said.

"FOR GOD AND COUNTRY" PROGRAM

For the past several years the American Legion has been sponsoring a program, "For God and Country". Although it is a year-round program, it is commemorated the first Sunday in February each year, because of the following reason:

Early on the morning of February 3, 1943, the U. S. Troop transport "Dorchester" was wallowing through the icy seas off Greenland. Suddenly a torpedo smashed into the Dorchester's flank, and the 900 soldiers on board milled in confusion. In those dark moments of panic, the coolest men aboard were four U. S. Army Chaplains - Clark V. Poling, Protestant; Alexander D. Goode, Jewish; John P. Washington, Catholic; and George L. Fox, Protestant. These four Chaplains led the men to boxes of life jackets. When the boxes were empty, the four Chaplains quietly slipped off their own precious life preservers, put them on four young GI's and told them to jump. The Dorchester went down 25 minutes later. The last anyone saw of the Chaplains they were standing on the slanting deck, their arms linked in prayer.

Post Chaplain Alfred E. Langdon of Post 220, Wareham, said the American Legion's "For God and Country" program was not conceived as a substitute for the Church, but to supplement and implement the work of the Church. Since this program is basic Americanism, it is strictly non-denominational.

The three great objectives are: 1) Regular public worship; 2) Daily family prayer. 3) The religious education of our children. Those who would destroy our way of life have tried to lead us away from our belief in the Creator, to sap our spiritual and moral strength, and to substitute for it a spirit of materialism and indifference - but the American Legion will have none of it.

Each year on the first Sunday of February the American legion conducts services in commemoration of these gallant chaplains.

The 10th District Chaplain, Charles L. VanderStaay, announces that services will be held in Wareham. Four Chaplains Sunday services will be held at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church this Sunday, February 5th, at the 10:00 a.m. Mass.

The Tenth District Council of the American Legion consists of Posts from Plymouth County, all of Cape Cod and the Islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard. The officers and members of World War One Barracks, the Onset Post and the Marion Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Wareham Chapter 69 of the Disabled American Veterans, as well as the State Commanders of both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars have been invited.

A group of stains called "tannin" are often invisible until age (hanging in your closet) or the heat of processing turns the stain yellow or brown ... just like an apple cut open and exposed to air. Other possible invisible tannins are soda, tea, coffee, liquor and fruit juices. They all become difficult to remove with age. YWCA ESTABLISHED NEW PROGRAM

The New Bedford YWCA announces the establishment of a new program - Business and Industry's Tribute to Excellence. The New Bedford YWCA is especially honored that Real R. Breton of the New Bedford Five Cents Savings Bank has agreed to serve as Corporate Chairperson for the tribute's first year.

Each year the tribute program will recognize women who have made significant contributions to local business and industry and will also pay tribute to the dozens of firms in Greater New Bedford which have helped foster a work atmosphere that promotes higher achievement among women employees.

On May 10, 1984 at a luncheon at the Allendale Country Club (catered by the Huttleston House), the first group of outstanding women will be honored. These women will form the core for Career Options Limited, a program which will enable high school women to receive career counseling and guidance from the tribute women. These honorees will also be available as speakers and panelists at numerous high schools and will work with the women's studies program at SMU to establish seminars in conjunction with the college of business and industry. Career options unlimited will thus provide important role models for young women and girls in the community.

In addition a Woman to Woman Seminar will be established in conjunction with the YWCA's displaced homemaker regional center. Woman to Woman is a one-day seminar for women re-entering the business world.

The YWCA has always been concerned with the needs of working women. The YWCA, the oldest and largest women's organization in the world, is at work in 83 countries, with 2½ million members/participants in the U.S.A. alone. Women of all races and diverse religious beliefs will be reached by the tribute to excellence programs as the New Bedford YWCA strives for the empowerment of all women and the elimination of racism. It is natural then for the YWCA to sponsor an ongoing program which:

- Encourages women and girls to consider and to prepare for a wider range of career opportunities in business and industry.

Helps women fulfill their potential, make significant contributions to the work place and maintain their family responsibilities successfully.

- Stimulates in a positive way an increased awareness by more companies of the untapped managerial and professional resources represented by women.

- Makes visible the growing ranks of leadership women in the corporate/business world.

- Provides direction and funds to aid YWCA training and support services for the employed woman.

Hughes' Poetry at SMU

ONE-MAN SHOW SCHEDULED

Actor John S. Patterson will present a one-man show based on the poetry of Langston Hughes at Southeastern Massachusetts University on February 9th at 8 p.m. The performance, in which Patterson sings, dances, acts, and mimes in his presentation of the works of one of America's major poets, will be held in the main SMU Auditorium.

Patterson, for example, mimes the tasting of soup in his imaginary kitchen as he characterizes one of poet Hughes' most memorable characters -- Madame Alberta K. Johnson, a working woman whose wit and humor make her typical of the characters that Hughes creates in his concern for the irony and pathos in the life of the average man. Such sketches make up "The Dream Keeper Speaks -- The World of Langston Hughes", the title of his one-man show based on 75 of Hughes' poems, many of which celebrate the triumphant creative spirit in Afro-American life.

Poet Hughes was also a playwright with two Broadway plays to his credit -- "Mulatto" and "Simply Heavenly".

The play, directed by Ernest Parham, is performed by arrangement with Harold Ober Associates. It is sponsored jointly by the SMU Cultural Affairs Committee and the Black Student Union.

Ticket prices are $2 for the public and $1 for senior citizens and students with IDs. For tickets, call the SMU ticket office at 999-8136.

Puppets: Oedipus the King

On Wednesday, February 1st, at 8:00 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Fine Arts Building, Southeastern Massachusetts University, the Cultural Affairs Committee will present Professor Peter Arnott's one-man production of the classic Greek tragedy, Oedipus the King. Professor Arnott has constructed large puppets, the stage, the lighting system, and the text itself for his production. Such serious puppet theatre has a long tradition in Europe; Professor Arnott is trying to establish the tradition here.

He feels that a modern audience will find the classic tragedy accessible by means of the puppet performance. Besides the performance, Professor Arnott will also lecture on the Greek Theatre in Room 203 of the Campus Center at 4:00. Admission is free for both. Parking lots 9 and 10 are the most convenient.

Engineering Career Booklet

An 88-page illustrated booklet dealing with careers in industrial and engineering technology is available free to high school students and parents.

This booklet, called "The Wentworth Way", contains data regarding industrial and engineering technology careers in the aeronautical, architectural, civil, computer, construction, dental, electrical, electronics, management, manufacturing, mechanical and welding fields of technologies.

The booklet relates the differences between engineering courses at engineering colleges, and industrial and engineering technology curriculums at technical institutes.

Traditionally, engineers have put to practical use the discoveries of scientists. However, scientific knowledge has increased so rapidly and become so complex that the traditional relationship of engineers to the scientific base from which they work, and the responsibilities of engineers have changed, according to Dean Robert A. Schuiteman of Wentworth Institute of Technology.

Present-day engineers are highly sophisticated in mathematics and science. Increasingly, their professionalism is based on study beyond the baccalaureate level. They are concerned with the overall design and management of engineering undertakings. They are less concerned than in previous years with the practical aspects of engineering.

As a result, new opportunities have emerged in the fields of science, engineering and technology.

In virtually every phase of engineering and science the need for uniquely qualified specialists has become evident. Their theoretical knowledge and practical ability enables them to work closely with engineers, scientists and architects.

The Lloyd Center

WALK ON ANIMAL TRACKS AND HOMES

Meet at the Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies on Sunday, February 12th, at 1:30 p.m. for the Animal Tracks and Homes walk. We will convene at the Center, 430 Potomska Road in South Dartmouth to investigate the signs of wintering animals.

Winter brings new survival problems to animals that do not hibernate or migrate. Coping with the low temperatures, snow, ice and lack of food sources, animals take shelter and hunt for food under stressful conditions. Their tracks in the snow, often used to identify them, demonstrate their behaviors throughout the day and night. By following their tracks, we can observe characteristic behaviors and interactions between animals. These sets of tracks can often lead us to an animal's home. We will examine all kinds of homes from rotten logs to nests, focusing on materials and design.

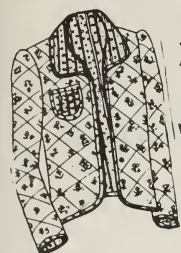

Participants should come prepared to spend the session outdoors, dressed appropriately in layered clothing, hats, mittens, and gloves.

The Lloyd Center offers free weekly walks each Sunday as a public service to the community. Please call the Center at 990-0505 to register for this walk.

BIRD WALK

The Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies, 430 Potomska Road, South Dartmouth, continues its first Sunday-of-the-month series of bird walks on Sunday, February 5th, starting at 9:00 a.m.

These regularly-scheduled bird walks to a variety of habitats provide interested beginners with the opportunity to learn basic field identification, and more practiced bird-watchers to note seasonal changes in bird populations, various birds' food resources, requirements for cover, and adaptations to particular habitats.

Because the Lloyd Center has been given permission to use nearby privately-owned properties for educational and research purposes, groups are allowed access to several ecosystems in the region which, because of limited use, provide havens for resident and migrating birds.

On Sunday, February 5th, the group will search for birds of prey, in particular. Northern Harriers, a Rough-Legged Hawk, and Short-Eared Owls have been sighted recently on coastal properties in the Lloyd Center vicinity. The Short-Eared Owl, unlike most owls, is active by day. It hunts in open areas, and favors salt marshes, meadows, and dunes in our area. Several individuals may gather in winter in areas where rodent prey is abundant, and the owls can be spotted flying with floppy wingbeats in search of food, or roosting on low perches.

To join us for Sunday's bird walk, please call 990-0505 to register. There is no fee, but group size is limited.

The Lloyd Center grounds and walking trails are open to the public 365 days a year, from dawn to dusk. The Center's building is open Tuesday through Sunday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The Center's 55 acre property borders the Slocum River estuary and presents a panoramic view of the river and Buzzards Bay beyond.
